

2017 Outstanding Superintendent Award

Congratulations goes out to Paul Atherton, for being honored with the 2017 Outstanding Superintendent Award at the 2017 Fairfax County Land Conservation Awards Program. The award recognizes the outstanding efforts made by a Project Superintendent, in responsible land disturbance techniques and practices to protect the properties and natural resources of Fairfax County. Paul was recognized by Fairfax County with this award, for his efforts at The Thompson Property jobsite in Great Falls. Paul was honored at the annual Fairfax County Land Conservation Awards Ceremony held January 29, 2018 at the Fairfax County Government Center Building, where he received a plaque from Skip Raynor, Fairfax County Land Conservation Awards Director, recognizing his outstanding performance.

This is Paul's second time receiving the Outstanding Superintendent Award from Fairfax County. Paul won the 2015 Outstanding Superintendent Award for his work at the Ambrose Hills jobsite in Baily's Crossroads in 2015.
